Committed with Responsible Tourism

For each reservation we donate a percentage to the Torres del Paine Legacy Fund to help reforest and conserve Torres del Paine National Park.

During the biggest fire in the history of the park in 2011, roughly 16,000 hectares of land were affected, devastating unique flora and fauna of the area. Our compromise is to give back a hand and help these affected areas so they can be slowly reforested.

Torres del Paine Legacy Fund uses its resources to reforest Lenga forests, help conserve and monitor native fauna, like the Huemul (South Andean Deer) inside the park, and to also improve the marked hiking trails, protecting the vegetation and educating those that wish to visit the Eighth Wonder of the World.
